

Donovan Visser Biography

““If you think technology can solve your security problems, then you don’t understand the problems and you don’t understand the technology.””

Donovan Visser has been involved in the information technology sector for over 11 years and has acquired a wealth of knowledge and experience. Initially specialising in unified threat management technology which included remote corporate network monitoring and reporting he then branched out into corporate email services focused on moving data into the “cloud”.

He spent some time at Google’s offices in California increasing his knowledge of cloud computing. Focusing heavily on corporate governance related to email messaging, retention and backup. He is a completed the following Google certifications :

Google sales specialist | Google Apps for training specialist | Google AdWords specialist.

In 2015, Donovan founded DSL Direct, A web service provider which assisted businesses with a wide variety of technology related requirements. Website design, data backup, support agreements as well as digital marketing are just a few of the services offered. He has completed numerous courses related to web development, internet security and is currently doing a course in child psychology.

He founded Web Protect with the intention of educating people about the dangers that the internet poses and how to effectively protect yourself and your family from these threats.

Donovan regularly hosts training/information sessions specifically developed for children in order to prepare and educate them about the type of information and risks they may have access to when online.